

STLCOM.Com's Total Voice App is now available!

STL Communications' award-winning Total Voice solution now has its own app! Read your voicemail, modify your greetings chat with a co-worker – all of these can be done directly from your mobile phone. Our many years of experience in telephony have enabled STL Communications to build our award-winning Total Voice managed service.

The Total Voice app allows you to conduct business on the go and are available on both iPhones and Androids.

"I am excited to see STL's Total Voice mobile app now available for both Apple/iOS and Android devices. Total Voice users can simply look for the Professor Voice Superhero icon and download this fantastic productivity tool," said Steve Leidholdt, President and CEO of STL Communications. "In addition to providing traditional desk phone features on the users mobile phone, the Total Voice app also enables chat, SMS text messaging and more all utilizing their office phone number. This is exactly kind of functionality that remote/mobile workers need to communicate seamlessly, no matter where they are working."
